Lichfield Festival

Lichfield again provided an excellent Festival - good venues, very good bands and excellent workshops leaders/callers. The sun shone and everyone thoroughly enjoyed it

Those following the American strand seemed to enjoy it as much as we who favoured the English style did. Among the workshop leaders on the English strand we must pick out Gene Murrow from America. He concentrated on the music, showing how English Country Dancing offered so much variety because of different types and barring of the some of the music. Most dance music is in eight bar sections, but there are many examples in other structures which make the dancing quite exciting.

As last year, the main halls used were in the King Edward VI School and adjacent leisure centre, with just a few workshops off site at a nearby junior school. It was good to get into the fresh air for the short walk and take advantage of the extra space available there compared with the leisure centre's rather tiny activity room in use in 2009.

On site catering was very good last year, but this year's was even better - plenty of food, lots of choice, very well priced and excellent value.

The centre of Lichfield was also only a short walk away, with many interesting shops - unlike Leicester, every other shop was not a food emporium!

Altogether it was certainly a most enjoyable weekend and we shall certainly be going again. We recommend it.

Thank you Mary & Keith Oughton

Previewing Events:

As we go to press there are still places for the Traditional Dance Workshop in early September, in Countesthorpe Village Hall. It has been arranged in conjunction with the County Dance Advisor who assures us that Sunday morning is a popular time for workshops. We already have dancers from a wide range of experience so everyone will be welcome –and many of us know and enjoy the teaching style of Jane Pfaff who is coming up from North London to lead us that day. Jane is vastly experienced as a Folk Dance teacher and has been leading workshops in schools here in the county as well as nearer to her home and in Cecil Sharp House itself. Please contact Patsy on 0116 2776259 or pat.count@virgin.net to register for the morning.

Details of the District Folk Committee's Playford Ball are among the Diary Dates – and I am assured it is easy to book through the website. This year's event is sure to be as good as ever, with such a star studied cast as Hilary Herbert calling and the Falconers playing, and Braunstone Civic Centre is large and comfortable for a dance like this with costumes to admire and enjoy!

I can highly recommend the District Christmas Mix Tea Dance on Saturday December 4th in Kirby Muxloe Hall. An early start for getting into the Christmas spirit it is also a chance to catch up with friends from other corners of the county –and beyond I should say before anyone complains as our musician will be arriving from Rugby-welcome Kevin! Callers similarly come from all corners of the county, and lead us in a variety of dances between us tasting the mince pies. So far I have no details but I rather gather plans are afoot for a couple of 'spots' to enjoy. Tickets will be available from your dance club or on the door –and your copies of the next Newsletter should be ready for then.

Jenny Crane is the mastermind behind the coach trip to London on Sunday December 19th to experience and enjoy the Christmas celebrations at Cecil Sharp House. Some of us have been more than once and realise how luxurious it is to be transported by coach, arriving in good time to have a bite of lunch before the good natured relaxed tea dance. Then there is just about time to eat again before the evening of carols and demonstrations by some really high quality groups, before finding the coach again and nodding off while we are transported back to our cars to go home –tired but smiling. In brief, the coach costs £22, combined tickets are £15, £13 o a p concessions or just go for part of the time visit London as well. All details are on the website, in leaflets which we hope are everywhere by the time you read this, or contact Jenny direct at 24 Hyde Road Hinckley LE10 0FH After our last trip to Cecil Sharp House I wrote a poem which abbreviates to:

Dancers filled the coach for a day full of fun
 And set off for London down the misty M one
 The afternoon promised both dancing & tea
 There in good time, we joined in with glee.
 The evening offered Carols and customs
 Great fun but hard seats gave us sore bums.
 We watched and sang until after ten
 And found our coach to ride home again.
 The driver was lively most of us were not
 So the trip home seemed to pass in a jot.
 This year again we will take a coach down
 Join us to have fun so near Camden Town.

Looking a long way ahead you will shortly hear more about the District Dance Weekend from October 7th to 9th next year, and the hall is booked for a Countesthorpe Day of Folk on February 4th 2012. I am keen to hear your suggestions for workshops you would like to run, or see included at Countesthorpe and we will try to oblige!

Not exactly a forthcoming event –but there is a feeling that if this Newsletter continues it should probably go out to at least half of our members as an e newsletter. Could you please let us know via the website if you would be happy to receive future Newsletters that way and accept our assurance that e mail addresses will be kept private and not used for anything else?

Your local District Folk Committee could easily embrace (not literally presumably) a few more members especially from local Folk Dance clubs and organisations not currently represented on it. If you should be interested but feel shy of volunteering, contact either the secretary Geoff Weston via the website –or me, Patsy, as on the page opposite
 The committee Maypole is a shining example of the benefits of joint ownership and use of what is probably too large an item for many organisations to consider themselves, though as we are finding an increasing number of schools youth groups and clubs are keen to spend some time each year reviving the old dances and enjoying some new adaptations too
